

Involved or interested in clinical research?

EDUCATION

Edinburgh Clinical Research Facility

The Education Core at Edinburgh CRF provides education and training for the clinical research community through the delivery of courses, webinars and educational resources.

Our aim is to provide an extensive programme of education for all individuals involved in clinical research that promotes and inspires excellence. We provide courses and webinars that cover a wide variety of topics, including:

- planning and conducting research
- collecting and analysing data
- effectively communicating findings.

Courses

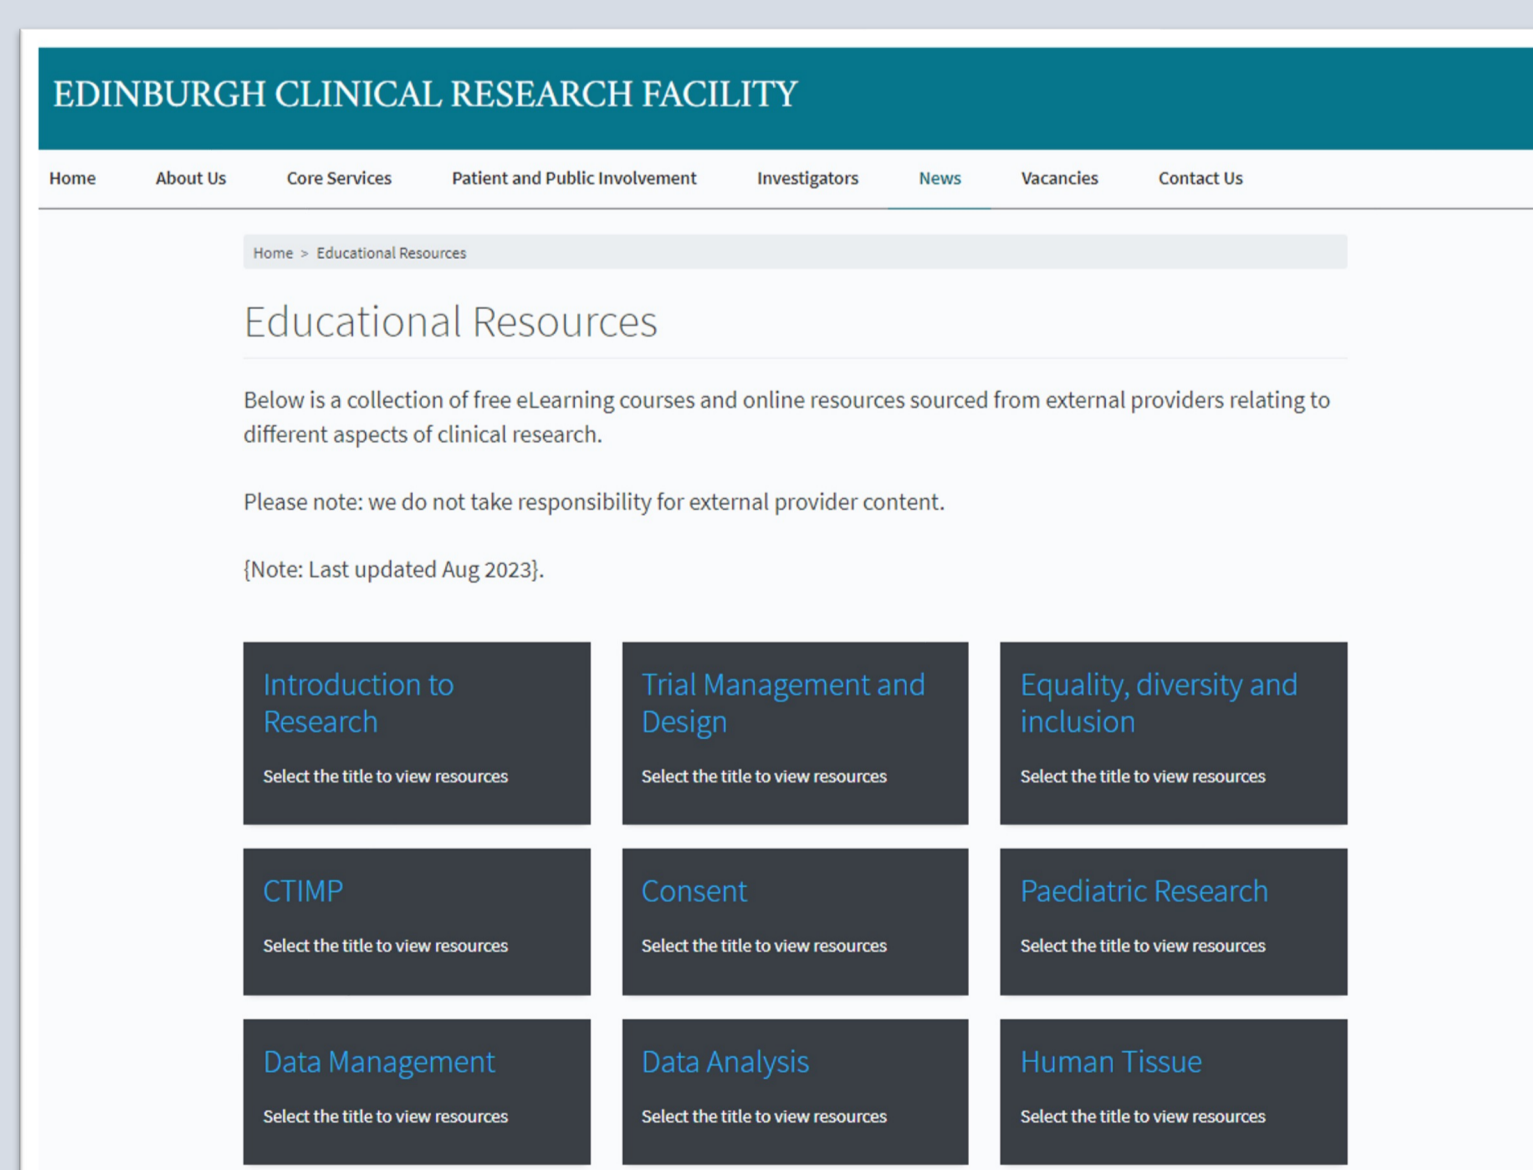

Our courses are open to all who are involved or interested in clinical research, regardless of academic level, discipline, profession or organisation.

The Education Core works closely with NHS Lothian and University of Edinburgh colleagues, as well as other Clinical Research Facilities, academic institutions and industry partners, to ensure that the education provided is current, relevant and meets the requirements of local and national clinical research communities.
